

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

OFFICE NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in Any Part of the City at 7 Cents Per Week. Telephone: 111. H. W. TILTON, MANAGER.

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co. The employees in the baggage department at the transfer have been put through a rigid examination as to their proficiency and found to be all right.

The new street car rails have been laid on Broadway, between Twelfth and Sixteenth streets. The new iron is much heavier than that which was taken out.

The ball game at Manawa athletic park yesterday resulted in a victory for the home club by a score of 19 to 12. The game was decidedly interesting throughout and the attendance was very large.

The plots of Williams' first addition and Riddle's subdivision, recently cut out of the county records and carried away, have been replaced by new ones. County Recorder Thomas having had the work done by experts.

The machinery for the Council Bluffs and Omaha basket and box factory has been ordered and is expected to arrive in a short time. The works will be located in the old Dierks building, and it is the intention to have the establishment running in full blast within the next six days.

All members of Humboldt lodge, No. 174, Hawkeye lodge, No. 184, Icelandic degree lodge, No. 3, and all visiting Odd Fellows, their families and friends, are cordially invited to join Council Bluffs lodge No. 4, in a visit to Lake Manawa this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Dodge Light Guards have built a rifle range on the south side of Lake Manawa and held their first practice shoot there yesterday afternoon. Quite a number of the "sober boys" were present and evinced considerable skill with their rifles. The range was 200 and 300 yards. In the future shoots will take place regularly every week.

There is a noticeable difference between the way Omaha people pronounce Manawa and that in which Council Bluffs pronounce it. The Omahas give the accent on the second syllable, while the Bluffites put it on the first. The Omahas call it "Man-uh-wah," while Bluffites call it "Man-o'-war." Some of the Bluffites are adopting the Omaha change as more pleasing.

John Dierks, of Omaha, was in the city yesterday. He says that the newly incorporated basket company will start out with brilliant prospects, and everything fully paid up. The line of goods manufactured will be the kind of baskets commonly used in this vicinity, of which a great many are required every year. It will require a large factory to supply the home consumption.

Miss Estelle Anderson entertained quite a large number of her friends Saturday evening at the residence of her parents on Benton street. Refreshments were bountifully served, and the evening was spent in singing and other amusements gratifying to the young folks. The charming young hostess was the recipient of several handsome presents from her guests.

A new time card went into effect yesterday at noon on the Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs, by which the fast freight No. 17, that formerly arrived here at 6:15 a. m., now arrives at 6 o'clock. The change is made to afford better connection with the Chicago & Northwestern. A large amount of meat is being shipped to St. Paul via these two lines. The shortening of the time will put the fast freight over the road at seventeen miles per hour.

On Wednesday next the Roman Catholic society of Neola, will lay the corner stone of the new $20,000 church, with the usual appropriate ceremonies. It is intended, when the new church is completed, to use the old one as a school for the children of the families who may desire that their children be educated under the auspices of the church. Rev. Father Schillmacher and the society are to be congratulated on the church advancement made in Neola during the past few years.

The sheriff of Fremont county, Nebraska, arrived in the city Saturday evening and took the man Irwin, who was arrested on suspicion of having stolen some shoes, back home with him. Chief Lucas accompanied them as far as Omaha. A telegram was received from Bellwood, Neb., asking that the prisoner be held until authorities could arrive from that place, but the proof was convincing that he committed the robbery at Fremont, and he was accordingly allowed to go with the sheriff from that place.

The two steamers, Rescue and Bluff City, were kept busy Saturday night, all day yesterday and last night pumping out the small engine on South Main street north of the Burlington tracks. These two engines are in fine working condition, and have pumped steadily for nearly forty hours with scarcely a moment's interruption. They are as fine machines as there are in the market. The council has decided to sell the Bluff City, and that effective steamer will doubtless be doing fine service here long for some other city than the one in which she has done so much good work in the past few years.

Patrons of the Pacific House have none but words of praise for the attention given them.

DARK SIDE OF THE BLUFFS.

Rev. Dr. Rees Scores the Sinners and City Authorities.

DEATH OF EX-MARSHAL BUMP.

A Little Blaze—The Mud of the Globe Don't Stick—The Score of the Gun Club—Brief Bits of News.

The Pulpit Score.

Yesterday morning the Rev. W. H. W. Rees preached upon the dark side of Council Bluffs. He selected for his text the twenty-first verse of the ninety-first chapter of Jeremiah. "For death is come up into our windows and is entered into our palaces, to cut off the children from without, and the young men from the street." Said the speaker in opening, "I wish I had the people before me who are the most closely related to the matter, that they might hear what I have to say, but you are here, and some representatives of newspapers are here also, and they will hear it for all they are absent."

Few people are interested in the death of a single person. An acquaintance or relationship that is limited gathers about the graves, but the great world knows nothing of it. Occasionally some great man dies, some man who is near to the nation's heart, and the people are reborn in mourning. * * * The death of Hadlock called to the attention of the world the condition of the liquor trade in Sioux City and the state of Iowa, and in his death Hadlock took more than he did during his life. The attention of the country was directed to law and with what impunity the law in Iowa was broken. Look at it now. A would-be drinker must possess more than ordinary cunning to get anything in Sioux City which will appease his thirst. The breaking of one law is just as bad as the breaking of any other law. The man who steals into your bedroom in the dead hours of night and takes your money is no more than the one who sells you whisky. The law does not discriminate between them, and why should I, and I want these men all to understand just what I think of them and of their business. Every one of them ought to be behind the bars, and they would be if it were possible to get the law enforced in Council Bluffs.

Jeremiah described the situation of the children of the Jewish nation, and it exactly pictures the situation of Council Bluffs today. Death has come up into our windows and is entered into our palaces. "Death is fearful. It comes to us unannounced. It lays its hand upon us and we are taken from the known and seen into the unknown and unseen. Its power is irresistible. As I understand the plan of God there is no future probation. 'As a tree falls there it shall lie.' Man dies and goes into the presence of a just judge, and just as human character is developed on earth so it will appear in heaven. "Look at the moral conditions of our city. Look at how the violation of law is winked at. I say without fear of successful contradiction that the city authorities is in league with the liquor interest. If you ever receive money from anyone at Avoca, in connection with liquor cases?" "Yes, I did. During the summer of 1881 I was employed by the law and order league to prosecute certain cases, Jensen's among the number. On a certain late Thomas Jensen, who violated the order of the court. The league commenced proceedings against him for violating the injunction. Then he came to them, as I understood at the time, and offered to quit the business and go away if they would allow him to pay the costs already incurred in the case. The league were 'prosecuting,' not 'persecuting' Jensen, and the case was dismissed at his costs. He paid the league $150, I believe."

The Globe says, Mr. Sims, that Mr. Deldrich and others saw Jensen pay you the money in J. B. Blake's store."

"I don't believe Deldrich ever told such a thing. If the Globe wants the best evidence in the matter, why does it not give what Jensen says of the matter. Say, if this interview is for publication, just ask the Globe why, with all the evidence of my crookedness in its possession, it has not said something about it before the trial? If it wanted to charge bribery upon the saloon men why did it not do so when such charges could be made with some effect, instead of waiting until the saloon fight is practically over?"

An Old Citizen Gone.

After a long and painful illness, an old and esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. A. J. Bump, passed peacefully away at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the advanced age of seventy years. The deceased was born at Meadville, Crawford county, Pa., March 6, 1818. He was married at Kirkland, O., May 4, 1842, to Miss Mary E. Milliken, who survives him. He also leaves a son and daughter, Charles C. Bump and Mrs. Mary E. Patton, of Park City, Utah.

He arrived here with his family in 1852, and followed farming until 1863, when he was elected city marshal. He then resumed farming, which he continued until prostrated by sickness. Mr. Bump was what might be called a positive man, believing in no half-way measure. What he believed he believed with all the positiveness of a strong nature and acted accordingly. In politics he was a staunch and consistent republican, and so strong that conscientiousness to always command the respect of his opponents. In religion he was a Spiritualist, and during his long suffering looked forward to what we call death as stepping into a higher and broader sphere of usefulness.

His last illness was a severe one, a kind husband and excellent citizen, friend and neighbor has departed. No arrangements for the funeral have been made, but the time will be announced later.

Can't Make the Mud Stick. The Saturday evening Globe, which is just now trying hard to establish the fact that the saloon men of this county are guilty of bribery in the methods by which they have been running their business, comes out with the following screed:

"Some time ago a case was commenced by Thomas Hardy as plaintiff against Henry Jensen as defendant, asking for an injunction to restrain Jensen from selling intoxicating liquors. A temporary writ was granted. Some time afterward it was learned that positive evidence could be secured to convict Mr. Jensen of having violated this injunction, and that he was in contempt of court and liable to a fine of $500. Mr. Jensen, of course, realized the situation and knew that he was liable to be arrested and fined, and went where all saloon keepers appear to him for favors, to Mr. Sims."

Our informant states that at the store of J. B. Blake, in Avoca, Ia., Mr. Sims was paid, for the purpose of settling the matter, $150. At the time of this transaction, Mr. G. Deldrich and several other persons were present, and saw the money paid by Henry Jensen to Jacob Sims. In this case no judgment had been rendered against Mr. Jensen for attorney's fees, and none has yet been rendered. Mr. Jensen understood that the amount by him paid was to stop proceedings against him for having violated the temporary injunction. Please explain, Mr. Sims, and we will give you another case next Monday."

In order to ascertain what truth there is in the above, a representative of the Bee called on Mr. Sims, and asked "What about this charge that Jensen paid you $150?" inquired the scribe.

"Jensen never paid me a single cent, at any time or in any place," replied Mr. Sims.

"Did you ever receive money from anyone at Avoca, in connection with liquor cases?" "Yes, I did. During the summer of 1881 I was employed by the law and order league to prosecute certain cases, Jensen's among the number. On a certain late Thomas Jensen, who violated the order of the court. The league commenced proceedings against him for violating the injunction. Then he came to them, as I understood at the time, and offered to quit the business and go away if they would allow him to pay the costs already incurred in the case. The league were 'prosecuting,' not 'persecuting' Jensen, and the case was dismissed at his costs. He paid the league $150, I believe."

The Globe says, Mr. Sims, that Mr. Deldrich and others saw Jensen pay you the money in J. B. Blake's store."

"I don't believe Deldrich ever told such a thing. If the Globe wants the best evidence in the matter, why does it not give what Jensen says of the matter. Say, if this interview is for publication, just ask the Globe why, with all the evidence of my crookedness in its possession, it has not said something about it before the trial? If it wanted to charge bribery upon the saloon men why did it not do so when such charges could be made with some effect, instead of waiting until the saloon fight is practically over?"
